As part of the CPN Legal founding family, Chris began his career at Marion Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals. After 15 years in the corporate world, he discovered his passion for small business strategy by starting an upscale billiards club. Since then, Chris has applied his expertise in strategic thinking, process improvement, and operational discipline to help small and mid-market companies thrive across various industries.

A Cincinnati native, Chris attended Walnut Hills High School and Xavier University, and like many on the team, he brings a local perspective to his work. Outside the office, Chris enjoys staying active. One of his favorite activities is playing beach volleyball, a weekly tradition he shares with his daughter, son-in-law, and niece. Every Sunday evening, you can find Chris on the sand volleyball courts, balancing family time with his passion for the game.
